Colorado Inventor's Book Named Amazon Bestseller

Erie, CO – June 6, 2013 - IX-EL, Inc. announced today that their flagship book, “In the Mind of a Master” was named an Amazon Bestseller. “In the Mind of a Master” captures the profound impact of inventor and researcher Slim Spurling, a native Coloradoan, whose cutting-edge Light-Life® Technology makes it possible for individuals to drastically improve their health as well as the health of the environment.

Spurling’s Light-Life® Technology is based on sacred geometry and quantum physics, and is designed to help individuals reconnect with positive earth energies and assist them in their own healing processes. In the newly-named bestseller, “In the Mind of a Master”, author Susan Anderson and Slim Spurling discuss his extraordinary life story which ultimately led him to invent the Light-Life® Tools. This comprehensive book also includes never-before-published research reports and testimonials.

The current list of applications for the Light-Life® Tools fall into countless categories such as relieving personal pain, reducing stress, increasing the body’s healing abilities, energizing water, decreasing air pollution, abating severe storms, and improving soil and plant quality.

“These discoveries are really rather remarkable. Almost any human endeavor will benefit [from the solutions provided “In the Mind of a Master”]. There’s just an endless list.”

~Slim Spurling

The Light-Life® Tools and their applications are now recognized and put into practice by a growing network of renowned scientists, qualified researchers, and grassroots organizations worldwide who are keenly interested in the issues of health and the environment.
